ALLIES ARE GAINING BELGIUM AND RUSSIA ARE VIGOROUSLY ADVANCING IN THE CONTROL OF BOARD OF CONTROL

While Russia Sweeps Onward Against Austria.

Servian Activity Causes Germany to Send Ally Aid.

(By Times Special Cable.)
London, Jan. 8.—Continued with their new movement from the north, the Germans have resumed their violent offensive operations to the west of Warsaw. They are backing their way forward at some points, only to be in turn driven out from their positions by Russian bayonet attacks. This leaves the situation in Poland as a whole about what it was a fortnight ago.

In the meanwhile the Russian sweep through the Austrian crown land of Bukovina continues unchecked, according to news despatches reaching London, and this army is expected by British observers soon to be well over the mountains forming the boundary into Hungary.

Serbia, with her army more or less rehabilitated, is described in London as snatching with renewed vigour at the Dual Monarchy from the south. Austria declares that the latest Servian attacks have been repulsed. Nevertheless, credence is now given in England to the reports that Germany is planning to throw the country of the assistance of her ally in a third attempt to break the country of the Serbs. One hundred thousand men and 200,000 Austrian shells, it is said, are to be employed in this operation. The Serbs are, however, said to have been able to stay at the present situation in the Balkans.

GERMANS ARE MAKING A NEW DRIVE, THIS TIME FROM NORTH, ON CAPITAL OF RUSSIAN POLAND.

RUSS CONFIDENT

They Think Attempt Must Fail—Fighting On Vistula Grows More Desperate.

(By Times Special Cable.)
Petrograd, via London, Jan. 8.—Taking advantage of the continued and increasing cold weather, which has from the main land adjacent to the numerous rivers of North Poland, the Germans are now initiating another attempt on Warsaw from the north. Having contacted themselves with fortifying and taking the defensive west of Warsaw, along the banks of the Bzura, and southward between Skiergielew and Gdansk, and further south along the left bank of the Vistula, the Germans are now re-organizing their forces in order to make an advance.

This assault is described as a sequel of the German offensive of four weeks ago, when, assuming from Warsaw, they were to their surprise repulsed by Russian troops across the border. The previous advance was made with the aid of the German air force, which was successful in securing the crossing of the Bzura, as well as the crossing of the Bzura, as well as the crossing of the Bzura.

Controller Morris Explains the Policy He Advocates.

Radical reforms will take place in the civic administration this year under Mayor-elect Walton if he follows the advice of department heads at the City Hall, who are making suggestions for the new Chief Magistrate concerning improvement to the present system of handling municipal affairs. The most extreme set recommended to the new Chief Magistrate is that the five members of the Board of Control, Chairman Walters, Vice-chairman Morris and Controllers Cooper, Tutin and Roberts must each work for a short time before being appointed, and that they spend the rest of the week in looking after the actual work of the city.

MAYOR WOULD COAX OR FORCE PEOPLE TO VOTE

Mayor Aldrich, preparatory to leaving the chair of the Chief Magistrate, today urged on the new administration the necessity of dealing with certain election reform. One of these concerns the lack of interest in a good proportion of the electorate seems to display in municipal affairs, particularly when new men for public office are put up for election. The Mayor does not believe that the prevalence of placemen when elected, being on candidates, will be sufficient to bring about the desired result.

SIMPLE COSTUME FOR GIRL WHO WORKS

Lessons From Irene Hough's Beauty

(By Ida Medina Gilman.)

"It is very easy to get into bad habits of walking and sitting if a girl works. When one is tired it is easy to sleep," said Miss Hough to me as we walked down Michigan avenue.

"When I sat at the desk I was very careful to sit up straight, and now that I am a supervisor, I am very careful to walk properly."

I had noticed before this that Miss Hough had a very graceful and free carriage. She walked on the balls of her feet, dropping her heels lightly. In fact, they hardly touched the sidewalk, she made her backstep, instead of her abdominal wall, carry the weight of her aerial organs. This gave her a wonderful appearance of lightness. I imagine she would be a very good dancer.

You will see by the illustration the correct position of one's feet while walking. It is almost straight ahead. The old idea of "toe out" has been only "head and eyes to the front," new days.

I asked Miss Hough to pose for me in what she considered proper form of office dress, and she did so in the picture above that she wears every day in the telephone exchange, and which is worn in "The Woman's Way."

It is dark, navy blue serge, with a thin white waistcoat, slightly flared at the neck and with long sleeves. Over this she wears a corset jacket, which rubs the neckline of any dress. One glance at the picture will show that it is particularly appropriate and good-looking dress for office wear.

In some offices and stores they insist upon the black uniform, but where it is possible, and it has an appearance of freshness that it is worth wearing.

Fur and Net in Fashionable Alliance

Fox Holds in the Full Skirt

Fur Trims the Gold Net Bodice

Monkey Fur on a White Embroidered Net

Skunk Fur on the Chiffon Frock

THERE is a powerful alliance in the events of fashion. It is the combination of sheer net with heavy, warm fur. The contrast which is the secret of artistic dressing is readily assured by this idea, and the allies have conquered every woman who knows enough to appreciate what they are doing for her modish success.

In the pale blue dress with the tunic of pale pink tulle there is the use of sheer filmy materials with the contrasting edge of fur. The fur is placed around the crossed surplice and gives character to the bodice of the gown. The sleeves of this dress are of the net, and the tunic is edged with beaded fringe. Do not forget to use fur on this type of gown.

Gold net forms the bodice and the upper part of the skirt of the dress for afternoon or evening. It has a banding of fur on the bodice in a bolero line, and the lower part of the lace tunic is edged with fur in a wider band. The blue velvet on the skirt gives a colorful relief for the warm brown of the fur.

On the trained evening gown there is a valuable addition of fur. The bodice is of pink net, silk of course, and sheer, though quite able to hold the weight of the fur. There is a beaded girde, and the fullness of the tunic is brought into a narrow line by the fox fur in a deep band that curves up at one side and drops below the knees at the other. The lower part of the skirt at the front is slashed and a large pink rose decorates it. By all means, use broad fur in this way.

Monkey fur has returned as trimming for gowns for afternoon and evening wear. On the white net dress this fur is used at the collar, the edge of each sleeve and on the bottom of the net tunic. There is a dropped waist line and the fullness is caught in on cords around the hips. The embroidery fills the front and the border of the tunic. Sleeves are of plain net. Buttons decorate the front line of fastening from collar to hip line.

White satin in the modified basque dress with the flaring tunic of net is exquisite in the last model. There is a chemise of shirred net at the top of the bodice, and the fullness of the basque is caught to a fitted lining in soft folds. A sash encircles the hips and drops in front after being tied. The flaring tunic is edged with ermine in a narrow band. There is a contrasting collar of black panne velvet.

By all means, combine sheer net, tulle or chiffon with fur. It means certain success for you.
